LBM Advantage Dedicates Board Room in Memory of Henry G. Page, Jr.

New Windsor, N.Y.

Recently, LBM Advantage held a dedication ceremony to name their New Windsor, N.Y. office board room in memory of Henry G. Page, Jr. Mr. Page was an owner of H.G. Page & Sons in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., a community leader, mentor and friend to many in the LBM industry.

Mr. Page was one of six founding members of ENAP, Inc. In 1967 those founders knew they were “stronger together”. Mr. Page continually served on ENAP’s board of directors, including terms as chairman, through its transition to LBM Advantage, and until his passing on February 2, 2018.

Advantage President Steve Sallah conducted the dedication of the board room, naming it the Henry G. Page, Jr. Board Room.

Attending the ceremony was Stan Ingalls of GNH Lumber in Greenville, N.Y., son of Buddy Ingalls, a fellow founding member of ENAP, Inc. Also in attendance were several past and present directors, chairmen, members, and Advantage staff. Henry G. Page III, Karen Page and Kevin Page accepted a plaque to commemorate the event. They, and other Page family members continue to operate H.G. Page & Sons.

Sam Collins, president of S.W. Collins in Caribou, ME, a longtime director and former chairman, honored Mr. Page via teleconference with anecdotes and stories of their time together on the board of directors.

As our cooperative continues to grow, Advantage recognizes the importance of the legacy its previous leadership has left behind. The Henry G. Page Jr. Board Room serves as that reminder.
